MAYOR WALKER'S 'PROTEST' RESIGNATION PLUNGES NEW YORK POLITICS INTO CHAOS

SANE, ECONOMICAL METHODS NEEDED, GRAND JURY FINDS

Cost of County Government Too High, Presentments Say, in Attack on Alleged "Wasteful Administration."

NEED FOR SEWERS IN ATLANTA CITED

Establishment of Civil Service, Prohibition of County "Rings" and Publication of Audits Asked

Urging immediate return to a "sane and economical administration of our public affairs," the July-August Fulton county grand jury Friday returned presentments advocating further reductions in salaries of county department heads, establishment of civil service for county employees, regular publication of county audits, and enactment of legislation tending to prohibit formation of county "political rings." Condemnation of Atlanta's present "inadequate" sewerage system was coupled with approval of efforts of city and county officials to obtain federal loans for necessary improvements.

"There was a time when our city and county governments were able to operate within their respective incomes," the grand jury said. "With-out restricting the growth of the community by imposing burdensome taxes, all necessary public services were provided. Today the cost of the government is beyond the ability of the people to pay. Extravagant demands for public service and wasteful administration in public office are responsible for this situation."

Presentments of the jury, which are printed as a legal advertisement in full in another column of The Constitution, would limit department heads of the county, excepting superior and criminal court judges and solicitors, to salaries of $7,500 a year. Reductions recently made are insufficient, the jury said.

Campaign Donations Scored.—Condemning the practice of requiring employees to contribute a part of their salaries toward campaign expenses of department heads, the jury recommended that this evil be cured by placing all employees, except department heads, under civil service rules.

The grand jury observed that "one of the most important functions of government in providing for the health of the citizens of a community is an adequate sewerage system," and that "a rapidly growing community should and must keep its sewerage facilities not only abreast of its development but sufficiently in advance of its present requirements to permit of reasonable future expansion."

Chaplin Wins in Fight To Keep Sons From Films

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 2.—(AP)—The fight of Charles Chaplin, film comedian, to keep his children out of motion pictures, ended successfully today, halting the plans of his former wife, Lita Grey Chaplin, actress.

Superior Judge H. Parker Wood, after hearing arguments made by Chaplin's attorneys which asked insertion of a clause in the divorce of the couple prohibiting either parent from allowing the children to work, sustained the motion.

GOVERNOR OLSON ADVISES FARMERS TO EXTEND STRIKE

Minnesota Executive Tells Growers To Place No Non-Perishable Produce on the Market.

DULUTH, Minn., Sept. 2.—(AP)—Minnesota farmers were advised tonight by Governor Olson to withhold all non-perishable produce from the market until after the midwest governors' conference September 9 at Sioux City, Iowa. The governor's statement was issued following receipt of a telegram from Carlos W. Goltz, attorney for the Woodbury (Iowa) County Farmers' Holiday Association, in which he was asked to issue a proclamation against marketing of produce.

Olson advised withholding of produce pending the probability that the governors' conference might take action of benefit to farmers.

Meanwhile more intensive picketing of highways into Sioux City was ordered by Woodbury county leaders of farmers' non-selling "strike" which was confined to the territory around Sioux City, Iowa, Nebraska and South Dakota, involving five counties.

The center of interest returned to the original scene of action when Woodbury leaders ordered complete picket lines re-established. For the first time in days, five truck loads of live stock reached Sioux City when vigilance was relaxed, and strike leaders at once announced the highway blockade would be renewed.

Leaders said the blockade would be continued until September 9, when governors of 11 middle western states have been called into a conference here, and that it would be kept in force indefinitely if some farm relief program is not formulated.

The "strike" seeks to increase farm prices by withholding supplies from the markets.

Elsewhere the "strike" movement flourished as members obeyed a call to withhold supplies from the market.

Weintraub's Grocery Robbed for 12th Time

Burglars Friday morning entered the grocery store of M. Weintraub, at 283 Piedmont avenue, and perpetrated the twelfth robbery of the store since last Christmas. Mr. Weintraub reported to police. More than $75 worth of groceries were taken.

The series began during the Christmas holiday period last year, and the monotony of the robbers' methods has been broken only once—when the proprietor was held up by armed bandits, he said. Groceries and cash amounting to more than $1,300 have been stolen. The largest single burglary resulted in a $133 loss.

The burglars Friday twisted the lock off a door to enter.

Chief T. O. Sturdivant ordered all officers in that section to be on special lookout for midnight visitors to Mr. Weintraub's store.

SHARP ADVANCES SCORED IN PRICES OF COTTON, STOCKS

Staple Jumps More Than $2 a Bale as Securities of All Kinds Respond to Brisk Buying.

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Financial markets leaped forward with renewed vigor today, after loafing most of the week.

Stocks swept onward along a broad front, with the steel shares particularly buoyant. The market as measured by price averages, reached new high levels for the current recovery, and many issues, particularly among the steels, registered new peak prices for 1932.

Cotton resumed its advance in vigorous fashion after two or three sessions of reaction. At the close gains ranging from $2.15 to $2.35 a bale had recovered all the week's losses and placed the staple close to its recent highs.

Bullish sentiment was stimulated by unfavorable crop reports from the southwest, and private estimates placing the yield well below the average of recent forecasts. One of these made the condition of the crop 55.1 and placed the indicated yield at 10.75,000 bales as compared with the recent government estimate of 11,300,000 bales.

Firmness of the grain and stock markets and further reports of an active textile business were instrumental in bringing considerable speculative buying into the market and market observers expressed the opinion that trade buying had absorbed a substantial line of contracts.

A resumption of the advance in the recently lagging bond market, where the best gains in 10 days were recorded, and fresh strength in principal commodities, accelerated the movement in shares.

Prices in shares reached a feverish pace in the last hour, after progressing more modestly earlier. Net gains in many issues ranged from $2 to $4 a share.

VON PAPAN SPARES LIVES OF FASCISTS

Commutation of Sentences Seen as Conciliatory Gesture.

BERLIN, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Prussia's board of commissioners, appointed by the federal government and with Chancellor Von Papen himself presiding, today commuted to life imprisonment a sentence of death imposed recently upon five fascists.

Three of the defendants were Adolf Hitler's national socialist party. The others are identified with a fascist organization allied with the nazis, and were convicted of killing a communist in a political brawl. The trial was in one of the new "speed courts" established especially to deal with political crimes.

The maximum sentence, the first to be imposed under an emergency decree providing capital punishment for political murder, aroused the indignation of a socialist to a frenzy of indignation. So violent was the letter which Hitler wrote to the chancellor about the crime which the men were accused was committed only an hour and a half after the emergency decree imposing capital punishment became effective. Numerous organizations which protested against the sentence made much of this point in requesting that the government give the condemned men the benefit of the position.

Hendrix Given 18 Years In Killing of J. H. Ellis

Lee Hendrix, employee of the city's sanitary department, whose attempt as a special officer to arrest J. H. Ellis resulted in the fatal shooting of Ellis on June 26, Friday night was convicted of voluntary manslaughter and sentenced to serve from 18 to 20 years.

Sentence was passed by Judge Edgar E. Pomeroy, of Fulton superior court, immediately after the jury verdict was received at 11:30 o'clock Friday night. Hendrix will appeal the conviction, he said when asked if he had anything to tell the court.

The jury was charged by Judge Pomeroy as to murder and voluntary manslaughter, as well as the rights of a special officer. Hendrix was defended by Attorneys Murphy M. Holloway and G. B. Walker, and the case was prosecuted by Assistant Solicitor-General John H. Hudson and Attorney H. A. Allen.

The shooting occurred on Whitehall street. The trial began Thursday. Hendrix took the stand Friday in his own defense. Arguments concluded and the charge delivered, the case went to the jury.

SOVIET INDUSTRY SUFFERS SETBACK

Various Divisions Falling Behind Quotas in Five-Year Plan.

MOSCOW, Sept. 2.—(AP)—The soviet industrial program is suffering a serious setback.

Official figures on industrial production for the last six months disclosed a growth of 19.12 per cent, as compared to the same period last year, but the progress was far below the schedule on which the government plans to complete the great five-year plan in 4 1/4 years.

The Kremlin had ordered an increase in production by 26 per cent, but the failure to come up to this schedule so far made it virtually certain that the original estimate cannot be attained.

The production in light industries, which supply the every-day needs of the population, is particularly backward, showing an increase of only 12.12 per cent. The output of industries under the commissariat of supplies, including such important articles as food and clothing, showed a growth of only 6 per cent over last year.

Much of this backwardness has been attributed to a sharp decline in the output of the famous Donetz basin coal fields, which normally provide more than two-thirds of the country's coal.

In January and February the fields averaged 140,000 tons daily, but at present they have dropped to below 100,000 tons. The Industrial Gazette editorially disclosed that the production of coal was lower than last year's schedule.

The production of iron in the Donetz basin is even below the 1930 level.

The fuel shortage has affected the entire structure of industry in Russia and coincided with the failure of the iron and steel industries to fulfill their schedule.

The schedule this year called for

FORT ADVOCATES FORECLOSURE BAN PENDING CREDITS

Home Loan Bank Chief Urges Mortgage Holders to Give Property Owners Breathing Spell.

FRENCH LICK, Ind., Sept. 2.—(AP)—Suspension of mortgage foreclosures until the home loan banks begin operating was urged upon building and loan association officials today by Franklin W. Fort, chairman of the new system's directing board.

Addressing the fourth annual convention of the United States Building and Loan League, Fort said the 12 home loan banks would begin to function about October 15 and that "thereafter mortgage money will be available on sound loans which we are getting ready to grant."

"We hope that every building and loan association will suspend the foreclosure of mortgages, at least where there is the slightest possibility of hope for the mortgagor," Fort said.

He added that Comptroller Pole, of the currency, has directed a suspension of foreclosures of mortgages by closed national banks and that most of the state banking authorities had pledged co-operation on a 60-day moratorium movement instituted by the board.

Fort told the league convention that the home loan bank "is the fulfillment of a long-time dream of the president," and that "well founded and well run, it should last as long as our nation is a democracy."

Fort also recommended to convention members the formation in every state of building and loan committees analogous to the business and industrial committees that have been created in each federal reserve district. He said these would have as their purpose "putting the leading facilities of your institutions at the service of distressed mortgagors immediately."

"I can assure you that when those committees are formed you will find the utmost spirit of co-operation from the business and industry committee in your federal reserve district."

Fort said assertions the home loan system was "an entrance of the government" were "an entrance of the government."

WALKER OFFERED JOB AT $500,000 SALARY

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—(UP)—While Tammany Hall and the metropolis' hundred and one "reform elements" were arrayed for a Gargantuan battle in the courts and at the polls on the question of whether or not Walker is to be elected again, Walker celebrated for sartorial splendor and wisecracks, was unworried and unruffled. He had just been offered a job $500,000 a year by A. C. Blumenthal, wealthy real estate and theatrical man, and one of his closest cronies. Blumenthal's previous offer of $100,000 was today boosted to five times that amount, it was reported.

Walker, however, the coast trip plans were completed. It will start on September 12. It was understood in circles close to Roosevelt that a southern trip, to start about October 12, a week after the western swing ends, is under consideration.

It contemplates stops at Louisville, Nashville, perhaps Knoxville, Tenn., Warm Springs, Ga., Raleigh, N. C., and either Philadelphia or Pittsburgh. That trip, it was said, would bring Mr. Roosevelt back to New York about October 25, two weeks before the national election on November 8.

A few minutes after the time for a resumption of the New York mayor's outer hearing this afternoon, Mr. Roosevelt appeared in the "Hall of Governors." He read a telegram from John J. Curtin, Walker's chief counsel, advising the governor that the mayor had resigned.

Roosevelt then announced: "The honorable mayor, J. J. Walker, has resigned. His action in so doing has therefore terminated the proceedings before the governor. I therefore declare the hearing closed."

Tomorrow, the democratic presidential nominee goes to Schenectady for a luncheon of "young democrats." Afterwards, Mr. Roosevelt will motor to Bridgeport, Conn., for a dinner in honor of himself and Archibald H. Neil, the state's national committeeman. At Bridgeport, the governor

None Seems To Know Whether Special Election Will Be Called and If One Is Held Whether Walker Will Run.

ROOSEVELT PLANS ARE SIMPLIFIED BY WALKER MOVE

Governor Ends Hearing and Is Left Free To Proceed With Campaign. Georgia May See Him.

BY ROBERT ST. JOHN.

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Violent cross-currents of political opinion seethed over New York tonight as to the effect of James J. Walker's resignation.

An air of uncertainty hung over each phase of the complicated situation brought about by the resignation, as Joseph V. McKee, aldermanic president, assumed the duties of mayor.

The three most pertinent questions to which there were no definite answers were these:

1. Can the office be filled by a special election this November or does McKee hold office until the expiration of Walker's term, December 31, 1933?

2. Is Walker definitely a candidate for re-election?

3. If he is, will Tammany Hall and its political allies give him the democratic nomination and throw their full strength behind his campaign?

Tammany Undecided.

In the face of widespread prediction that Tammany would back Walker, the other borough leaders would back Walker in a vindication campaign, John H. McCooey, Brooklyn leader and one of Curry's allies, said:

"It is not fully decided yet whether Mayor Walker will run for re-election this coming election."

The opposition of three of the five borough leaders could prevent Walker from seeking re-election as the regular democratic candidate, even if he so desired.

McCooey was the only one of the five who commented. Secretary of State Edward J. Flynn, Roosevelt campaign aide and leader in the Bronx, McKee's borough, could not be reached.

Although the dehonored ex-mayor has not definitely said he would seek re-election, his statement that he would submit his case "to the people" was interpreted as meaning he would run.

The question most discussed in the city hall, in political headquarters and on the streets was whether McKee has assumed the mayor's toga for four months or 18.

City Clerk Michael J. Cruise, a Tammany district leader, certified to the board of elections today that the office of mayor is "vacant" and should be filled at the general election in November.

On the other hand, Walker's op-

All New York Newspapers Assail Action of Walker

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Excerpts from editorials on the resignation of James J. Walker as mayor, appearing in New York newspapers, follow:

The Times—Governor Roosevelt acted with great dignity and, we believe, with good political judgment in the manner in which he has conducted the hearing at Albany. The thing speaks for itself.

It would not be fair to say that his (Walker's) resignation is a confession of guilt. But it is a confession that he had no hope of establishing his innocence in the satisfaction of Governor Roosevelt.

As regards the shrieking accusations which he makes against the gov-

DECEIT CHARGED IN RUSSELL TALK

Governor Denies That He Will "Abandon" Post as Chief Executive.

JESUP, Ga., Sept. 2.—Governor Richard B. Russell Jr. Friday sought to refute the argument of Congressman Charles R. Crisp and Crisp supporters that he is abandoning an office to which he has been elected. In an address here today to voters in Wayne county, of which Jesup is the county seat, and of Pierce and Ware counties, the governor branded the charge as an effort on the part of the ex-congressman to deceive Russell supporters.

One of the chief arguments my opponents have been using against me is that I am abandoning the office to which I was elected," he said. "They know as well as you do that I will serve every day of the term to which I was elected, and fulfill every pledge I made to the people who elected me, in so far as is humanly possible. "The same argument that is being used against me could just as well be used against any other man."

The governor asserted that he will advocate a tariff on jute to increase the cotton market, support expansion power to the average man, demand a reorganization of the federal government and the elimination of waste in the government, and that all these things represent the common people.

Congressman Crisp's record in congress has been one of great service to the people. He has been a champion of the power trust and the international bankers. Governor Russell said:

Governor Russell was introduced by Hon. Robert B. Russell, president of the Brunswick circuit and former district governor of Kiwanis clubs. E. W. Johnson, president, and Mark Bonney, secretary, of the Kiwanis club, introduced Congressman Russell. From the crowd O. L. Garrett, W. C. ## HOWARD EXPRESSES CONFIDENCE IN RACE

Superior Court Judge Voices
Gratitude for Support of Friends.

Confidence in his re-election on his record as a judge of Fulton superior court was expressed by Judge G. H. Howard, who is a candidate in the September 14 democratic primary, in a short talk to his supporters at a meeting Friday afternoon in the Piedmont hotel, when a Howard-for-Judge Club was organized.

Judge Howard's statement was as follows:
"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen:
"While I deeply appreciate this voluntary organization, composed of prominent businessmen and attorneys who have the respect and confidence of the people of Fulton county, I fully understand that you are here to endorse my efforts and my record as judge of the superior court and not necessarily because of your preference personally, though I am proud to count all of you my friends.

"I shall give to the Sunday papers a statement which I hope will comply with your request for a public speech by me and if it is published the public will have what I would like to say to you and to them. I shall also comply with your request to speak over the radio before the campaign ends.

"These speeches will be pitched on the same high level on which I have made my campaign to this time.
"Since you have organized to make sure of my re-election, you will be interested now in learning what has been done by me. I have been in every ward and district in greater Fulton county. Having been reared in the country, I have enjoyed my visits to the country districts most of all and in my rounds have discovered that we have a wonderful county with a splendid population and bountiful crops and have met thousands of interesting people.

"I have met, personally, more than 12,000 voters and believe I understand their attitude in the present contest. Through their efforts and yours, I shall win by a surprisingly large majority and if you will take the trouble to investigate you will find that there are more people actively soliciting votes for me than for any candidate for judge in any contest waged in this county in many years. We are sure to win."

WOMEN OF FULTON TO GATHER MONDAY TO AID CRISP DRIVE

Neighborhood group meetings of Atlanta women supporters of Congressman Charles R. Crisp's campaign for the senate will be held in every section of Fulton county at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon, it was decided at a meeting of the women's division of the Fulton County Crisp Club Friday.

Seventy-five Atlanta women attended the conference at headquarters in the Healey building.

Mrs. R. L. Cooney, president of the woman's division, read a letter received from the congressman in which he said:

"As evidence of the esteem in which I hold women: I think no better proof is shown than that I have given women the highest office in my power to give. One holds the position of my wife, a woman is my secretary and a woman is in charge of publicity in this campaign."

A reply sent to the congressman by Mrs. Cooney said:
"We are proud of your splendid record in congress and are doing all in our power to elect you to the senate where your statesmanship and experience will be of great value to our state and country. God bless you."

NAVY OFFICE SHIFT LAID TO RAMSPECK IN M'ELREATH TALK

Walter McElreath, candidate for congress, commented Friday on a statement appearing in The Constitution recently, in which his opponent, Robert Ramspeck, claimed publicly that he had not "meddled" in Atlanta affairs but that McElreath had done so.

"Mr. Ramspeck is right," says Mr. McElreath. "He has not 'meddled' in Atlanta affairs. If he had, perhaps Atlanta might not have lost the naval and marine recruiting stations which we have had for over 30 years, to Macon, without even a fight. Indeed Mr. Ramspeck has not 'meddled' or Atlanta might not have been obliged to depend on a congressman from another Georgia district to secure Georgia marble for the new postoffice after Mr. Ramspeck had stated positively that the contract was lost to Indiana limestone and that there was nothing more to be done. It is true, and I admit it, that I have always taken an active interest, not only in Atlanta affairs, but in the affairs of the entire district and of the state. Call it 'meddling' if you like."

Mr. McElreath is scheduled to speak at Stone Mountain Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock and at Tucker at 4 o'clock.

New Q. S. S. To Open Today

The Nu-Way Grocery Company, S. Cristal, proprietor, the only Q. S. S. store in the downtown district, will open today at 100 Broad street, S. W. The store will carry a complete line of staple and fancy groceries, cured meats and fresh vegetables. The store is decorated in black and white, the new insignia of Q. S. S. The equipment is modern, and includes mechanical refrigeration. Mr. Cristal is shown in the inset.

COURAGE IN OFFICE AIM OF RAMSPECK, STATEMENT SAYS

"In this period of stress and panic, we must have men in congress who are frank with the people and who have courage to publicly take a stand for retuning the government to the people and reducing its cost," said Congressman Robert Ramspeck, candidate for re-election from the fifth district, Friday in a statement from Atlanta.

"I have taken this stand. I have voted in the interest of the masses of the people. I have voted against the wishes of organized groups. Some of these votes have brought me the opposition of those who seek to defeat any congressman who dares to oppose their pet interests," Ramspeck said.

"My votes have been in the interest of all of the people and in favor of strict economy, and I have faith that the people of this district will support that kind of representation. Two of my opponents, while trying to capitalize upon this opposition, have failed to show sufficient courage to state what they would have done if they had been in my place. Before Mr. Ramspeck had stated their views."

Ramspeck voiced a preference for private operation of transportation systems, declaring, "he is opposed to the government entering into new business ventures. 'If we do not give the railroads a fair deal, they will be unable to continue to operate, and people will be thrown out of employment, and it would be necessary for the government to operate the systems,' he said.

Ramspeck said that visits to practically every ill-fated district of the fifth congressional district have made him confident of re-election. "My campaign is conducted on my own path of service, and the voters are pledging support on the basis of business-like service I have given," he said.

Congressman Ramspeck will speak at 3 o'clock this afternoon at the Rockdale county courthouse, in Conyers, and at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon at Tucker, DeKalb county. He will speak at the meeting of the city and county employees tonight at the Labor temple.

WEBB PROMISES TO CREATE OUTLET FOR FARM PRODUCE

WOODBINE, Ga., Sept. 2.—"If I am elected, I am going to create more markets for farm products," W. W. Webb, candidate for commissioner of agriculture, said here today. "I am going to make the agricultural department of more help to the farmer in growing his crops and encourage co-operative marketing."

"I will see," Webb added, "that there shall be no cost for service in the agricultural department not given to the people and I promise that every dollar spent by the department will get a dollar's worth of service to the people."

Hammerstein's Widow Sues Son for Support

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—(P)—Mrs. Emma Swift Hammerstein, widow of Oscar Hammerstein, opera impresario, sued her stepson, Arthur Hammerstein, today for alleged breaking of a contract for support her for life. She asked $100,000 damages.

Mrs. Hammerstein was convicted of an immoral conduct charge in women's court June 6, 1930, but the conviction was reversed the following October by the appellate division on the ground she had been convicted on insufficient evidence.

In her suit brought in supreme court today, she said her stepson had agreed to support her for life if she would leave the country, which she did, following her vindication.

Arthur Hammerstein filed a petition in bankruptcy early in 1931, listing liabilities of more than one and a half-million dollars.

GOVERNOR PROCLAIMS MONDAY AS LABOR DAY

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Saying that "the welfare of the country and the prosperity of the people largely depend upon the laboring classes and wage-earners," Governor Richard B. Russell Jr. Friday published a proclamation urging Georgians to observe Labor Day, September 5.

The proclamation said that "without labor, no reward would come to the man with the plow, no fields would be white with cotton, no hillsides would shine with golden grain, and no valley blossom into beauty."

"The laboring man is essential to state and national progress. There is dignity in labor. Trace the pen of any labor editor in Georgia and it will be found advancing education, maintaining good morals, advocating the majesty of the law, spreading religion, exalting philanthropy, promoting industry and developing resources."

"The patriotism of the laboring man has been attested by the valor, heroism and sacrifices he has displayed in the wars of the country, and by his fidelity in time of peace."

"He believes that no brighter jewel than the public school sparkles in the diadem of Georgia, and he maintains that education is the chief pillar which supports the whole structure of government, and he knows that education promotes home ownership."

"Therefore, I, Richard B. Russell Jr., governor of Georgia, acknowledging God as the source of good government, peace and happiness, and in conformity with the legislative enactment of this state, which more than forty years ago, set apart the first Monday in September, of each and every year, as a legal and public holiday in Georgia, to be known as Labor Day, do issue this, my proclamation, requesting all Georgians to suspend their usual avocations and unite with the hosts of labor in observing and celebrating this occasion on the fifth day of September, 1932. And may that day find the state of Georgia pulsating with new life, and the hearts of her citizens rejoicing in the music of hope and promise, and may the holiday processions on that day start labor upon a fresh march of prosperity."

"All papers relating to the petitions were filed formally with the mayor Friday by City Attorney James L. Mayson, who prepared them, and Key will leave by air for Washington with a committee of four other prominent Atlantans Tuesday.

Key Friday extended invitations to Senator John S. Cohen, A. I. Belle Isle, Fulton County Commissioner George F. Longino Jr., and W. E. Mitchell, chairman of the mayor's relief commission.

Russell To Review Sewer Fund Petition

Mayor James L. Key Sunday will submit the claim of metropolitan Atlanta to $10,000,000 for sewer renovation and a petition for another $1,000,000 for direct relief to Governor Richard B. Russell, he announced Friday after it was learned the governor would not be in Atlanta until late tonight.

All papers relating to the petitions were filed formally with the mayor Friday by City Attorney James L. Mayson, who prepared them, and Key will leave by air for Washington with a committee of four other prominent Atlantans Tuesday.

Key Friday extended invitations to Senator John S. Cohen, A. I. Belle Isle, Fulton County Commissioner George F. Longino Jr., and W. E. Mitchell, chairman of the mayor's relief commission.

Car Dealer's Ad Causes Comment

Readers of Friday's Constitution have commented on an unusual advertisement. With the caption, "Bursting through the Clouds of Depression," it showed a bust portrait of John S. Florence, used car dealer, emerging from clouds of depression.

The advertisement continues: "The past 12 months have recorded the failure of countless business enterprises but have witnessed the birth of a new era. The John S. Florence Motor Company was launched when the depression was at its worst, but in six months became one of the leaders in its field."

NIX TO AID TALMADGE, HARDWICK DECLARES

Candidate Repeats Warning
in Speech Before Camilla Audience.

CAMILLA, Ga., Sept. 2.—Thomas W. Hardwick, candidate for governor, spoke here tonight to a large and representative audience in behalf of his candidacy for governor, and made what was generally commented on as one of the best speeches he has ever delivered here.

After presenting his plan for paying the floating debt of the state, keeping the schools open and providing adequately for the state institutions, by curtailing temporarily the highway program until better times return, Mr. Hardwick discussed the status of the gubernatorial contest from the standpoint of the various candidates.

"In at least 125 counties in Georgia," he said, "the race is squarely between myself and the commissioner of agriculture, Eugene Talmadge. His official conduct in that office during four years and six months is well known to the people all over Georgia. I shall not go into it in detail. Suffice it to say that there has never been in Georgia since the days of carpet-bag government a record loaded with such reckless waste, extravagance and disregard of law."

Against Mr. Talmadge and his public record, his candor and his campaign tactics, I offer diametrically the opposite type of candidacy. Against his radicalism I stand for sanity. Against his attempt to array one class of people against another class, I raise the banner of a united people, all striving together in these times of World War reconstruction to lead our state back to its once proud place as the 'Empire State of the South.'

"Between these two extremes are several candidates occupying intermediate positions. Mr. Holder, for example, he will carry some counties, but he will not carry as many as I have carried two years ago, and in that race he finished fourth. Mr. Kelley will carry some counties, but he will not carry a sufficient number to make him a factor. Mr. Edwards will carry a few.

"Inasmuch as Mr. Abit Nix will carry no counties except his own, his candidacy can have but one result, and that is to aid the candidacy of Mr. Talmadge. Mr. Nix has been here to Mitchell county and made a pleasing impression, which is a gentleman of pleasing personality and prepossessing appearance. I believe the controlling motive of those who will vote here for Mr. Nix is that they do not want Mr. Nix more, but want Talmadge less. But I warn them now, that if Mr. Talmadge carries Mitchell county, Mr. Nix will not run second, Mr. Mitchell county will run second, and the votes for Mr. Nix therefore might as well have been cast for Mr. Talmadge."

LARGE CROWD HEARS HARDWICK AT AMERICA'S

AMERICA'S, Ga., Sept. 2.—The Americus Times-Recorder today sent the following telegram to the campaign headquarters of Thomas W. Hardwick, candidate for governor:

"Hardwick meeting here last night declared biggest political meeting in years. Mr. Hardwick was introduced by C. C. Hawkins, one of the largest and most successful farmers and stock breeders in Georgia. Summer county courthouse was far too small to accommodate the audience, which was very enthusiastic for Mr. Hardwick."

MRS. EMMA M. BAILEY PASSES IN NEW YORK

Mrs. Emma Moseley Bailey, widely known southern woman and mother of W. M. Bailey, Atlanta lawyer, died Wednesday night in New York at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Marie B. Schrader, wife of Frederick E. Schrader, nationally known writer and art critic. Mrs. Bailey was 80 years old.

Funeral services are to be held at 2 o'clock this afternoon in Washington, D. C. Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Bailey left Atlanta Thursday night to attend the services.

Mrs. Bailey was a native of Selma, Ala., and resided for many years in Rome, Ga., before removing with her late husband to Washington in 1896. Her husband was connected with the United States agricultural department, and Mrs. Bailey was until eight years ago connected with the United States land office. She was an accredited attorney, and received her bachelor of laws degree from the old Columbian College, now George Washington University. She retired eight years ago.

GREATER ATLANTA COMMERCIAL GUIDE

Of Carefully Selected, Reliable Business Institutions

EDITED BY VICTOR BARRON

Atlanta Flour and Grain Co. Officials See New Era of Business Activity

SUBSIDIARIES OF COMPANY ENJOY MORE BUSINESS

Representatives of Puritan Mills, Home Insulation and Georgia Roofing Supply Co., Report Fall Revival Under Way

BY VICTOR BARRON.

The substantial advance in the price of cotton and other farm commodities, together with the resumption of operation of scores of cotton mills, better tone in stock and bond prices and a reawakening of confidence in majority business and financial centers, has brought about better business for the Atlanta Flour & Grain Company, Inc., and its four important subsidiary companies.

This is one of the largest business enterprises in Atlanta and the southeast, with headquarters at 52-72 Mangum street, N. W. Under the efficient direction of its officers and corps of salesmen the organization has enjoyed steady growth and expansion during its more than 20 years as part of Atlanta's commercial studies. Morris Abelman is president of the organization; Philip Abelman, vice president and Hyman Cohen, secretary and treasurer.

Today the concern covers an area of more than 65,000 square feet of floor space. The company's subsidiaries embrace the Puritan Mills, the Georgia Roof-

Campbell Coal Co. President Urges Home Owners To 'Paint Up'

"Now that the summer is drawing to a close we expect the usual 'painting up' season to get under way. In fact, it has started already," said R. H. Johnson, president of the Campbell Coal Company, yesterday.

"There never was a truer saying than 'It's cheaper to paint than not to paint,' for every landlord or homeowner knows how fast woodwork will rot when exposed to the weather. A winter without paint when it is needed will work far more damage than the cost of the labor and paint.

"Not every home, of course, needs repainting, especially if good paint was applied the last time. But a look around the place will reveal a dozen spots here and there which should be touched up, for protection if not for looks. And these places should be attended to before the fall rains set in."

ing Supply Company, the Home Insulation Company and the Industrial Roofings, Inc. JOHN-MANVILLE ROOFERS.

The Georgia Roofing Supply Company is the only approved Johns-Manville roofers in Atlanta. It is one of the largest distributors of roofing in the southern states, and is under the management of F. R. McWaters, W. J. DeWitt, insulation engineer, and George E. MacGladrie, in charge of the Home Insulation Company, while Grant Card is sales manager for the Puritan Mills, which turn out the popular "My-T-Pure" superlative flour. Gabe A. Cohen is field sales manager for the organization.

Hyman Cohen declares that business of the parent company and its subsidiary companies enjoys a good business during August compared to July, with indications that business will continue on the upward grade with the approach of fall and winter.

At a recent "pep" meeting of representatives of the various companies in the southeastern states, all were outspoken in their assertion of increased confidence of the trade toward a turn for better business and that the pendulum is swinging forward once again, with all indications that it will gain momentum during the remainder of the year.

HOME INSULATION

"HOT BEDROOMS were really making us ILL"

"We just couldn't get any rest on sweltering summer nights until our house was insulated with Johns-Manville Home Insulation. Now the whole house is blissfully cool, and, in winter, we are able to save about a third of our fuel bills."

Perhaps this sounds too good to be true, but J-M Home Insulation, installed in your attic floors or ceilings, will work a miracle in comfort. Summer heat cannot penetrate, nor can winter heat leak away.

J-M Home Insulation is clean, fireproof rock wool, over 3 inches thick, that fills every nook and cranny in the attic floor or ceiling. And it is amazingly easy to install.

'Go-Getters' for Atlanta Flour & Grain Co., Inc.

Representatives of the Atlanta Flour & Grain Company, Inc., and its subsidiary companies of the Southeast, at a recent "pep" meeting here at the organization's headquarters, 52-72 Mangum street, N. W., all feel greater business activity is scheduled for this fall and winter. These representatives of the parent company, and subsidiaries—Puritan Mills, Industrial Roofings, Inc., The Home Insulation Company and Georgia Roofing Supply Company, are (seated) T. R. Turner, flour and feed salesman; Grant Card, sales manager; Lucius G. representatives of the various companies in the southeastern states, all were outspoken in their assertion of increased confidence of the trade toward a turn for better business and that the pendulum is swinging forward once again, with all indications that it will gain momentum during the remainder of the year.

Mr. McWaters reports a growing demand for asbestos shingles, siding and all types of roofings of this fire-resisting material.

"Now is the time for home and business owners to re-roof their buildings and residences, and for those contemplating building of homes and business places, to build now while prices are low," he said.

"The J-M asbestos shingled roof is an asset, because it gives the home complete protection against roof-comunicated fires, and being permanently weather-proof it never wears out or needs repairs—the first cost is also the last—and it adds new beauty and value to the home."

He declared that never before were there so many advantages in a roof at a cost so low.

A number of the largest cotton mills in this section, as well as other business enterprises, have roofed and re-sided their buildings with asbestos materials. Both roofings and sidings are in a wide variety of colors and designs, and duplicating the appearance of fine brick work.

Willingham-Tift Lumber Co. Opens Re-roofing Dept.

Having watched the growth of Atlanta and grown with it for the past 28 years, Willingham-Tift Lumber Company feels that there is a need for a reliable and competent re-roofing department, and believes the beginning of this new era of prosperity is the time to acquire an organization which is fully competent to carry on this work.

This department will make a specialty of re-covering old roofs with "Bird" roofing materials, featuring their "Twin-Lock" shingle, which is made especially to be applied directly over old wood shingles or composition roofs, thereby preserving the insulating value of the original roofing.

ATTRACTIVE COLORS.

As its name implies, the "Twin-Lock" shingle has a twin or double-lock at the lower corners, and these locks are entirely concealed. The shingles are rectangular in shape and afford a very attractive appearance in either blue-black, red, green or a mild color mixture. The surfaces are all natural, unadorned colors.

Just now roofing and labor prices are very low, although the cost of the material has recently reflected the present trend of materials and advanced slightly.

Even so, first-class jobs can now be secured at lower prices than at any time, except during the depth of the recent depression, and with the fall and winter rains soon to begin, it would be well to have your roof inspected with a view to re-covering it if advisable.

ELLIS HEADS DEPARTMENT.

This department will be managed by R. P. Ellis, who has been in the roofing application business in Atlanta for the past ten years, and is thoroughly capable of giving the best advice regarding roofing, and the proper type of material for each house.

"We are, indeed, fortunate in securing Mr. Ellis to manage our application department, and we are quite sure that his numerous friends will wish him success with his new connection," said W. D. Willingham Jr., secretary and treasurer of the company, in making the announcement of the new department.

U. S. REINSTATES PRO-BONUS CLERK

Regulations Not Applicable To Postal Employee, Says Hoover of Advocate.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Reversing a previous action, the administration today reinstated a Gary (Ind.) postoffice clerk who had been discharged after being accused, among other things, of advocating cash payment of the soldiers' bonus.

Postmaster-General Brown said the question raised involved "the right of postal employees freely to express their views upon public matters" and President Hoover said "the fact that they differ with my views does not necessarily constitute 'political activity' under the law which forbids such action."

Thomas E. Campbell, president of the civil service commission, said the commission had promulgated no new regulations which would prevent government workers from expressing themselves publicly on the bonus.

The case was the outgrowth of the discharge of W. H. Kerr. He was charged by the Gary postmaster with "serious infractions of the postal laws."

Postmaster-General Brown said, and in addition to introducing a bonus resolution at a meeting of the American Legion in Crown Point, Indiana.

The specifications drafted by the postoffice department said this resolution "was contrary to the expressed wishes of the president, who considers such legislation harmful to the country at this time."

After this became known today President Hoover wrote the postmaster-general, saying:

"As you are aware, I have never made any such suggestion as to this or any other public question in its relation to the conduct of government employees. The fact that they differ with my views does not necessarily constitute 'political activity' under the law which forbids such action."

"In order that there may be no misunderstanding or misrepresentation in this matter, I consider that Mr. Kerr should be reinstated in the postoffice service at once."

U. S. Bank for Georgia Is Requested by Crisp

FORSYTH, Ga., Sept. 2.—The federal Reconstruction Finance Corporation was urged today by Representative Charles R. Crisp to establish in Georgia one of the agricultural credit corporations provided for in the act.

In a long distance telephone conversation with directors of the corporation, Representative Crisp asked that the federal agency give early consideration to Georgia's claim for one of the institutions.

The act as recently amended by congress made provision for setting up a series of the banking institutions throughout the country with a capitalization of $3,000,000.

Informing members of the corporation that briefs and other documentary evidence to support Georgia's claim will be forwarded to the federal government, no decision on the location of one of these agencies in the southern territory was made until Georgia's case is presented in full.

In view of Mr. Crisp's position as head of the committee which handled the giant Reconstruction Finance Corporation legislation and the fight he made while in charge of the bill in the house, Georgia is regarded as having a splendid chance to land the agency.

Missouri Candidates To Ask Modification

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Missouri's 13 democratic nominees for representative in congress have announced they will vote for modification of the Volstead act and for submission of prohibition repeal.

Five of those signing an agreement to stand on the national platform plank had the endorsement of the Anti-Saloon League in the recent primary. They are Representatives Jacob L. Milligan, C. C. Dickinson, A. A. Romaine, Ralph F. Loxier and Clarence Cannon.

The eight present members of congress who were renominated also promised to vote for such legislation at the December session. This year all the Missouri congressmen will be elected from the state at large.

Pay Cut Plan Loses In Alabama Senate

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Sept. 2.—(AP)—The Alabama senate today definitely defeated a proposal to cut the salaries of state, county and municipal officers whose salary is fixed by law, in voting down the proposed Sparks amendment to suspend the provisions of the constitution which prohibit the reduction of salary of such officers during the term of office.

The measure only mustered 16 votes while opponents piled up 18 on roll call after a bitter debate in which Senator Powell, of Macon, an administration leader, charged the measure was designed to defeat the income tax amendment.

Crain, Penn Mutual Agent, Shows Value of Insurance

Hurd J. Crain, who was recently appointed general agent of the Atlanta agency of the Penn Mutual Life Insurance Company, is a native Georgian. He came to Atlanta soon after the close of the World War to engage in auditing work with the federal government.

After three years spent in this work he entered the real estate business, in which he was engaged until 1928.

On January 1, 1928, he became associated with the Penn Mutual Life Insurance Company, and after a year and a half as a successful personal producer with this company, he was appointed agency supervisor on August 15, 1929, and since that time he has played an important part in the outstanding growth of the Atlanta organization which has had a substantial increase in sales each year for the past several years and a total paid business in July of $1,219,000.

Mr. Crain succeeded Manuel Camps Jr., who in turn succeeded the late Stanford Wright as general agent of the Penn Mutual in Boston, Mass.

Organized in 1847. The company was organized in 1847. Like many other great insurance companies, the Penn Mutual enjoyed continued growth, surviving every depression and emerging with their assets and volume of business higher and higher. The company ended last year with assets of nearly $500,000,000—more than that much now—and with $2,102,602,371 insurance in force on the last day of 1931, representing more than $17,000 policy contracts.

"Our insurance business is far ahead of the same period last year," Mr. Crain said. "The public is showing more appreciation for insurance than ever before, regarding its safety and the organized methods of selling by well managed companies. There never has been a time in history of the present generation, or previous generations, when the value of insurance as a family or business protection has been more appreciated than today."

"Insurance has demonstrated its safety, its stability and its position in both homes and business institutions."

Insurance Protection. Today insurance embraces every form of protection. It will protect a person from infancy until old age, and that means from birth until death. It will protect men and women in old age and provide income when working days shall have been spent. It will provide protection during sickness, it will provide educational compensation and educate children, it will safeguard widows and children and provide protection of man and wife during their old age.

"Insurance today is the bodyguard of millions. It is probably the greatest protection that has been provided the nation since its foundation. The insurance fraternity presents a powerful guard for a nation of wonderful people."

Thus, Mr. Crain and his able staff of assistants should enjoy a continuation of the forward march to new high records, which Mr. Camps left behind.

City Coal Dealers Hike Price, Predict Additional Increase

25 to 50 Cent Rise Announced; "Summer Credit" Plan Withdrawn.

Atlanta coal consumers who have failed to heed the repeated warning of leading local coal dealers, representing the Atlanta Coal Merchants' Credit Association, Tuesday realized their mistake when the price of this indispensable commodity advanced 25, 35 and 50 cents per ton. At the same time the 30-day summer credit plan of dealers was withdrawn, charge accounts being based on 30 days duration.

Local dealers generally advanced the price of domestic coal to consumers to $5.25 to $5.75 for cash purchases and to $5.75 to $6.25 for 30-day charge purchases. These prices compare with $4.75 to $5.50 for cash purchases and $5.25 to $6 for charge purchases prior to September.

However, owing to the fact that the price of coal still is considerably cheaper than under normal business conditions, the present prevailing prices virtually nullify the summer time rates, dealers assert.

Dealers Friday declared the advance rescinded, lightening the price of domestic coal to consumers to $5.25 to $5.75 for cash purchases and to $5.75 to $6.25 for 30-day charge purchases. These prices compare with $4.75 to $5.50 for cash purchases and $5.25 to $6 for charge purchases prior to September.

Another Advance Seen. Local dealers declared Friday that there is a strong likelihood of another sharp advance in prices within the next distant future, stressing the fact that the closing down of mines has complicated conditions in view of the fact that 50 per cent of production is not and slack coal. These grades are used by railroads and industrial plants. With a great number of industrial plants idle and others only operating part-time and with railroads consuming less on account of lighter traffic, mines have been unable to produce sufficient domestic coal, it being impossible to produce this grade of coal with turning out nut and slack coal.

Owing to conditions which have prevailed during the summer months mines have either had to shut down, or stock their production, the latter being out of the question, as mine operators have no place to store coal.

With railroads and industrial plants using considerably less coal, it will mean higher prices for domestic coal and scarcity, dealers declare.

Dealers emphasize the fact that if consumers continue to delay their purchases that there is grave danger of a general rush on part of consumers to buy all at the same time, especially with the appearance of the first cold spell. Indications are that this will be a severely cold winter.

Don't Delay Purchases. Consumers cannot possibly benefit from postponing their purchases, according to dealers. They have all to gain and nothing to lose. In addition to paying higher prices later in the season if purchases are further delayed, consumers cannot expect efficient and prompt deliveries during cold, rainy winter days as now during ideal autumn weather conditions.

When it is realized that the borough of Atlanta consumes more than a million tons of coal annually, it is readily appreciated that local consumers can save an enormous amount of money by "cashing" up now, thus escaping further advances in prices.

Dealers point out that even at the higher prices, the commodity still is selling at the lowest price in the last 15 years.

Insurance Protection. Today insurance embraces every form of protection. It will protect a person from infancy until old age, and that means from birth until death. It will protect men and women in old age and provide income when working days shall have been spent. It will provide protection during sickness, it will provide educational compensation and educate children, it will safeguard widows and children and provide protection of man and wife during their old age.

"Insurance today is the bodyguard of millions. It is probably the greatest protection that has been provided the nation since its foundation. The insurance fraternity presents a powerful guard for a nation of wonderful people."

Britain Will Impose New Import Duties

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Information that further drastic duties on imports would be imposed September 6 by England reached the commerce department today along with a message that Australia had ordered the removal of temporary prohibitions on foreign commodities at once.

These changes follow the announcement this week of Germany's plan to hike import levies, also on September 6.

William L. Cooper, commercial attaché at London, said in a message that "increased duties are to be imposed in the United Kingdom on canned cherries, canned fruit peel, meat and poultry pastes and sausages, leather gloves, printer's ink, varnishes, lacquers, enamels, certain wrapping papers, hair combs, screws and sensors."

NAVAL STORES LEADER DIES IN JACKSONVILLE

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Sept. 2.—(AP)—Daniel Miles Flynn, 74, pioneer naval stores operator, died here today. He was born in Columbia, S. C., North Carolina, March 13, 1858, and came here in 1904.

Flynn had been connected with a number of naval stores concerns and at the time of his death was a director of the Turpentine and Rosin Factors, Inc. He also was a director of the Atlantic National Lumber Co. and vice president of the Laurinburg & Southern Railroad Company in North Carolina.

BERGER LINDH

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Sept. 2.—(AP)—Berger Lindh, about 37, of Bolt Green, Ohio, disclosed was a victim of a heart attack in a local hotel this morning, a victim of apoplexy. The only relative, his mother, lives in Stockholm, Sweden.

WALLACE LOWRY

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 2.—(AP)—The manager of the Ancira hotel at Montreux said today that an American registered as R. W. Anderson, whose real name he believed to be Wallace Lowry, was found dead last night in a hotel bath tub.

The cause of death was not definitely established but the hotel manager said it either was drowning or poisoning. The man registered at the hotel five days ago. The body will be returned to the states.

STORM IN ATLANTIC 200 MILES OFF MIAMI

MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 2.—(AP)—Richard W. Gray, government meteorologist, said this afternoon that if the present Caribbean disturbance continues to move in its present west-northwest course, it will be Sunday night before it could reach the Florida east coast.

He pointed out there is always the possibility that a storm so far off there will materially change its course before reaching the vicinity of the mainland. Today the disturbance was believed to be about 200 miles at sea.

It is readily appreciated that local consumers can save an enormous amount of money by "cashing" up now, thus escaping further advances in prices.

Dealers point out that even at the higher prices, the commodity still is selling at the lowest price in the last 15 years.

"49 Years of Underselling Atlanta"

WALKER'S ACTION RESULTS IN CHAOS

Gotham Puzzled by Legal Questions Raised by
"Protest" Resignation.

ponents contended that a majority election can be held only in an odd-numbered year and that an election next month would be illegal. In many quarters a court fight to decide the question was predicted.

McKee's own advisers took this view.

If no one else takes action to throw the question into the courts some of those who sought Walker's removal have indicated they would.

The point all hinges around what has been termed the vague and contradictory wording of the state constitution and the city charter on the subject.

McKee said he would have to study the question before he could express an opinion as to how long he automatically holds office.

In the meantime, in a formal statement expressing "sorrow and deep regret" over the "unhappy circumstances of the case," he referred to himself as "acting mayor."

Corporation Counsel J. W. Hilly said, said the point with McKee, but declined to make any statement.

He had given the controversy more consideration.

If it is decided that an election is to be held in November, and if Tammany and its allies give the democratic nomination to Walker, a highly complicated situation is likely to develop.

Governor Roosevelt heads the democratic ticket.

For days last month he and Walker faced each other in the executive chamber at Albany while the Mayor's critics outlined charges upon which they demanded Walker removal.

A decision by the governor was obtained by Walker's resignation.

Hearing Terminated.

The outer hearing, which had been based on more than a year of investigation by the Hofstadter legislative committee, was formally terminated by the governor in Albany during the day. Roosevelt will now turn to his own presidential campaign.

What effect, if any, the Walker case will have on it, was the subject of considerable private speculation among leaders of all political parties.

Walker, in a statement which accompanied his resignation, last night described the proceedings before the governor as "biased and unfair."

"I shall permit myself to be lynched to satisfy prejudice and political ambition," he asked.

If the presidential election in New York state is close, the New York city vote may decide whether the state's 47 electoral votes go to President Hoover or Governor Roosevelt.

If the election throughout the nation is close, the winning or losing of those 47 votes may decide who the next president is to be.

James A. Farley, Roosevelt-Garner campaign manager, has several times predicted his candidates will carry this state, but has also expressed a belief they could win without New York's 47 votes.

To this claim, leaders at the republican eastern headquarters have replied that, without New York, "Roosevelt is defeated."

Tammany Hall opposed Roosevelt at the election throughout the nation.

Since the convention a formal motion has been adopted pledging the organization support to the national democratic ticket, but there has been no indication of how active this support will be.

Neither republican nor democratic campaign leaders would discuss the political significance of the situation for publication.

Wise to Fight.

Dr. Stephen S. Wise, New York rabbi and vice chairman of the city affairs committee, announced the committee, which last March filed charges requesting Walker's removal, would "unite with all other independent and non-partisan groups" in an effort to prevent Walker's re-election.

Maurice P. Davison, chairman of the executive committee of the New York committee of one thousand, declared:

"The resignation of Mayor Walker speaks for itself. He resigned under fire. . . . But we are under no illusions that the cause of good government has achieved any final victory. Only one step has been taken."

The Collegiate Non-Partisan League made public a letter to Samuel H. Hofstadter, chairman of the investigating committee, asking him to an-

Scientists Should Rule, Says Noted Professor

YORK, England, Sept. 2.—(AP)—If engineers and scientists ruled the world, there would be no depression, no poverty, and much more happiness, Professor Miles Walker today told the British Association for the Advancement of Science.

Rulers now in the saddle are not qualified for their jobs, Professor Walker said. Most countries suffer from lack of "special intelligence and expert knowledge" in the make-up of their rulers and this is especially so in the United States of America.

"I know," his statement said, "the pressure to which Governor Roosevelt must have been subjected with a view to inducing him to save a guilty and recalcitrant mayor at the expense of the public interest."

"His firmness in standing up against this pressure and thorough manner in which he conducted the hearing, have won for him the admiration of fair-minded people throughout the nation."

Louis Waldman, state chairman of the socialist party and Algonquin Lee, head of the socialist city committee, issued a joint statement which said in part:

"The mayor's statement . . . shows conclusively that his resignation has been tendered as a result of a prearrangement with the Tammany machine, which must have pledged him the renomination."

Seen as "Victim."

State Senator William L. Love, of Brooklyn, whom Tammany recently failed to re-nominate as a candidate, described Walker as "the victim of acquaintances who pretended to be his friends."

He and Walker were once colleagues in the state senate.

Dr. William Schroeder Jr., chairman of the city sanitation commission and personal physician to Walker, said he had never been based on his advice, but added he would suggest to Walker that he "go away for a complete rest."

Walker McKee was taking over duties of the vacated office, Walker himself remained in seclusion.

Promptly at 9:30 a. m. the city's chief executive appeared in his office.

He used a side door and went directly to his old office. He began wading into his new duties. There were no flowers, there was no ceremony, no formality.

Neither were there any of the witty remarks or bon mots for which Walker had grown famous.

In his own white paneled office, hung with massive oil paintings of previous mayors, McKee explained he would not have to take any oath of office. He referred to himself repeatedly as the "acting mayor."

Delays Move to Office.

He said he would not move into Walker's own office—more elaborate one than his own, half a city block down a long corridor—until next week.

He reprimanded his secretary for appearing 10 minutes late.

Of Walker's resignation he said: "An exceedingly sorry, regret I have been injected into this position under these particular circumstances."

The one thing he did want to talk about was city financial affairs. He said he would make immediate and drastic cuts in the city budget.

"Cutting the budget to the bone is an old phrase," he declared, "but this time it is going to be done."

He said he had not been informed of any intended resignations among city officials.

"I intend to get along well with everyone in our city government," he stated, "and if I don't it won't be my fault."

After posing for dozens of photographs, conferring with many of his department heads, presiding at a board of estimate meeting and talking into a battery of news reel microphones, he left his office on the dot of 5:30 p. m. and started home by subway.

His day's work had netted him almost double what he has been previously earning, for his annual salary is now $40,000 instead of $25,000.

NEW YORK PAPERS
OF JIMMY WALKER

New York to Hoover, something will be done about it. . . .

In 1902 Tammany was refusing to support Mr. Cleveland for the presidency, until he came to New York and read the riot act to Croker and Sheehan. Tammany then came to heel. It would doubtless do so now if the indignation of national democrats should be sufficiently stirred by the spectacle of a man in a city like this city bedeviling the whole party situation and making ready to betray every trust for the sake of keeping a tight grip on office. The personal and official fate of Mayor Walker sinks into nothingness compared with such a proposed disruption of democratic plans and hopes throughout the whole country.

World-Telegram—He seeks martyrdom by resigning. He attacks the governor of the state with almost hysterical extravagance. He flies to the "forum of the people."

Well, he will find in that forum, we think, only a prevailing, steadily widening verdict that he has merely "beaten the governor to it"—and that he, Mr. Walker, is politically finished.

The Sun—Governor Roosevelt's conduct of the hearing has been high and widely praised for his evident effort to get at the facts in the case. It must be assumed from the confidence with which Mr. Walker announces his candidacy for re-election that Bosses Curry and McCooey consented to his program.

To name for mayor a man who said of the democratic candidate for president that James J. Walker said yesterday will mean that Tammany Hall and its Brooklyn affiliate have bolted Franklin D. Roosevelt.

The Post—Realizing that to quit under fire is generally regarded as a confession of guilt, Mayor Walker and his counsel have spent much ink in trying to avert this inference. . . .

If there could be anything weaker than Mayor Walker's defense before Mr. Seabury and Governor Roosevelt, it would be the statements issued on his behalf by himself and Mr. Curtin. But there should be no harsh criticism of the allegations put forward in these statements. A case so poor as Mr. Walker's needs every prop which can be dragged up.

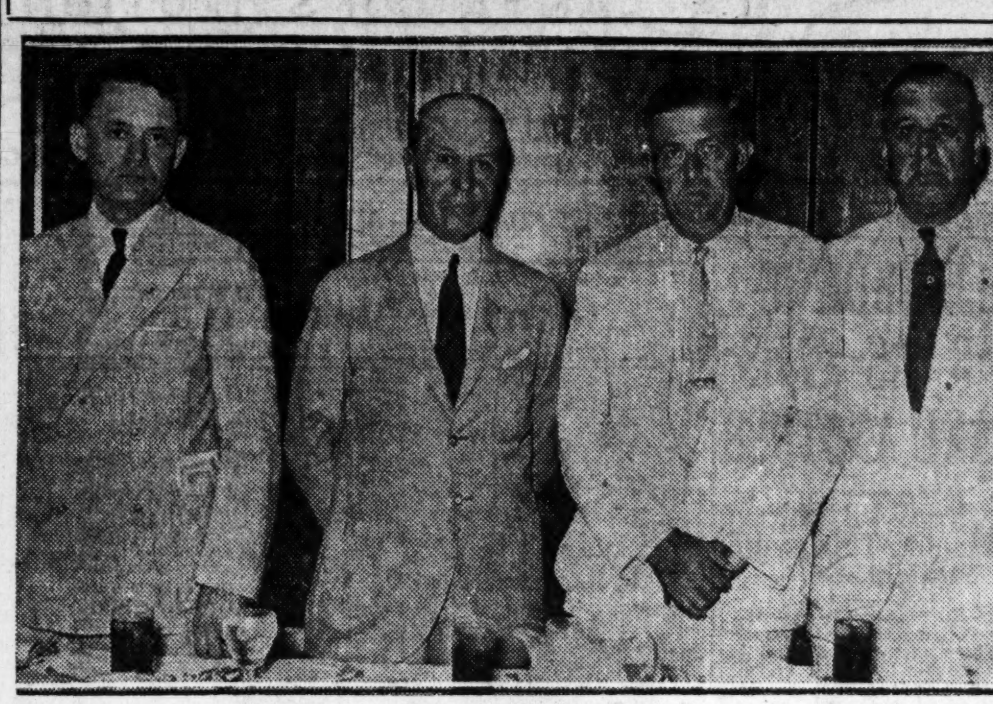

Brooklyn Eagle—Mr. Walker's resignation under fire is the least heroic of maneuvers, the last desperate resource of a man determined to "beat the rap" by putting himself out of reach of the governor's authority. . . .

His statement is a sentimental appeal for sympathy and support based on the charge that the mayor of New York has in the most despicable way been made the victim of injustice at the hands of the governor.

This is manifestly absurd. . . .

New York Daily News—Now ex-Mayor Walker says he's going to appeal to a higher tribunal, the great tribunal of the people, for exonera-

Investors' Syndicate Holds Enthusiastic Session

Above are shown notables who spoke Friday at the state convention of the Investors Syndicate at the Piedmont hotel. Left to right—King Murphy, state manager; R. F. Maddox, First National bank; J. R. Ridgeway, Citizens and Southern bank. All the speakers were enthusiastic over business improvement. Mr. Ridgeway said the syndicate had doubled its resources and increased its capital 40 per cent and paid out $10,000,000 in cash.

Seabury, Sailing for Vacation, Says Walker Is Running Away

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—(UP)—Samuel Seabury, counsel for the Hofstadter legislative committee and chief accuser of Mayor James J. Walker, discharged a farewell blast at the resigned executive before he sailed tonight for a vacation in England.

Walker, Seabury said, was "running away."

"Mr. Walker's conduct would not stand the light of day," Seabury said. "He knew it, and confronted by the evidence, he ran away, laying down as he ran a smoke screen of vilification and abuse of the governor."

Seabury reviewed the evidence and said:

"It is not surprising that Mr. Walker should have resigned. He had no defense. It was conclusively proved that he enriched himself as the result of his mayoralty. He simply could not explain."

"When the governor put pointed tion and vindication. That's more grandiloquent than truthful. What he means is that he's going to ask Tammany district leaders to renominate and re-elect him—something they machine always has been able to do. . . .

Herald Tribune—The violent and abusively worded claim that the resignation is to escape an "unlawful invasion of rights" or a political "lynching" will deceive no one. . . .

The former mayor was not under trial for crime and it was not in the interests of the people New York that he should be allowed to conceal his actions as a defendant in a criminal case is allowed to do. . . .

A man who must insist upon that kind of safeguard is no fit person for so high an office and his resignation is, under the circumstances, a profoundly satisfactory outcome.

ROOSEVELT PLANS ARE SIMPLIFIED BY WALKER MOVE

will deliver the third of his week-end campaign speeches in republican territory. The other two were at Columbus, Ohio, and Seagirt, N. J.

Mr. Roosevelt plans to leave September 12 and before returning to Albany the first week in October, will appear in the midwestern farm states, the Pacific northwest, California, Rocky mountain states, the southwest and the industrial region of the Great Lakes.

The "Walker case" has been on Mr. Roosevelt's doorstep since June 8 when Samuel Seabury, counsel to the Hofstadter legislative committee, sent to Roosevelt "conclusions" which he held were grounds for removal.

Today, Mr. Roosevelt's formal termination of the hearing was witnessed only by members of his staff, reporters and a scattering of tourists, who going through the building, accidentally arrived at the "Hall of Governors" in time to see the last act of the political drama.

Workmen dismantled the executive courtroom and removed the elaborate wire arrangements set up by telegraph companies on the floor above to handle news of the hearing.

After his Bridgeport speech tomorrow night, Mr. Roosevelt will motor to his Hyde Park home to spend Sunday and Labor Day.

LOUISIANA SLAYER
SOUGHT BY OFFICERS

MORGAN CITY, La., Sept. 2.—(AP)—Officers today were seeking the assassin of Felix "Slim" Olivier, 49, who was shot and killed last night as he turned on a light in his home after returning from a political meeting. Sheriff Charles Pecot, who he was investigating a report that Olivier had been informing on liquor law violators.

While acting mayor a few years ago, McKee sent police raiding Broadway shows. One play, "The Captive," was closed, and Mae West star in another production, was given a jail sentence.

While serving in the state assembly, McKee was a staunch advocate of strict censorship of moving pictures.

Unlike Walker, who scintillates in box seats at hockey games and prize fights, McKee prefers to be the player rather than the fan. He often plays polo before breakfast in an up-

SCHOLARLY SCOT TAKES UP DUTIES

Erstwhile Teacher of Classical Languages Succeeds Witty Irishman.

BY ALBERT W. WILSON.

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—(AP)—A scholarly Scot today took over the duties laid aside by one of the world's best-known Irish wits.

Joseph Vincent McKee walked into the city hall, took off his coat and started work as the mayor of New York city. When James J. Walker resigned last night, McKee, who was president of the board of aldermen, was automatically elevated to the position of mayor. He came to work at 9 a. m. and left at 5 p. m.

McKee said he was "exceedingly sorry" about the Walker resignation, referred to himself as "acting mayor" and plunged immediately into the problems of city government, mainly the work of cutting down the budget.

The third mayor since the World War, McKee is far removed in character from the fiery John F. Hyland (1915-1926) and the effervescent Walker (1926-1932). As president of the board of aldermen, McKee has been outspoken in disagreeing with the policies of Walker.

The two—McKee and Walker—present a striking contrast. About the same height, McKee is more rugged than his slim predecessor. He dresses trimly but without the dash always characterized Walker's attire.

Graduate of Fordham University in 1913 with degrees of A. B., A. M., B. L. and LL. B., McKee taught Greek and Latin for the next three years at Fordham and English for three years more at a high school.

McKee got his start in politics while serving on a church committee. A barber in the congregation was dying and wanted to become a citizen before he passed away. Friends suggested that McKee see Arthur Murphy, Bronx county chairman, which he did, and the barber was furnished his final papers. Some time later Murphy, now dead, came around to see McKee and persuaded him to run for state assemblyman.

McKee was elected in 1917 and each year for six years was re-elected. In 1924 Governor Smith appointed him justice of the city of New York. He was returned to that bench by the biggest vote of any judiciary candidate that year.

A year later he became the democratic candidate for president of the board of aldermen and has served in that office ever since. He is an early riser, meets appointments promptly, works long hours and has not had a vacation in two years.

"Ridiculously overdone" was the McKee verdict on Walker's welcoming spectacles on Broadway for channel swimmers, aviators and other city visitors.

While acting mayor a few years ago, McKee sent police raiding Broadway shows. One play, "The Captive," was closed, and Mae West star in another production, was given a jail sentence.

While serving in the state assembly, McKee was a staunch advocate of strict censorship of moving pictures.

'Saloon' Pleasing Word, Gene Tunney Avers

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—(AP)—James Joseph Tunney, the former heavyweight boxing champion, sprang to the defense of the word "saloon" when he arrived from Europe today on the Berengaria.

"Silly, the way the republicans shudder at the word saloon," said the retired pugilist, who is planning to make his first extensive campaign speech for the democratic national ticket at Lewiston, Maine, on Labor Day.

"Verbally, saloon is far more pleasing to the ear than the English counterpart, pub, the French cafe, the German biergarten, the Spanish bodega or the Austrian wienstube," he said.

town armory and he is a real devotee of golf. He shoots in the upper 70's and 80's.

"I'd rather get in a sand-lot baseball game with junior and my pals than see any big league game," McKee said. "My son Jr. is 11 years old and he often has his dad on his team."

The McKee family—the mayor, his wife and two sons (Richard is two) lives during the summer at Manamoronck, 20 miles up on the Westchester county shore line.

The job of mayor is not new to McKee. He has been acting mayor so many times that few New Yorkers know how often.

While his predecessor has been somewhat of a globe-trotter to Europe twice, to California, Virginia, Cuba, Bermuda—McKee seldom left the Bronx, where he was born 43 years ago, or the vicinity of New York.

"I made one long trip in my life," he said, "to Havana."

McKee's father and mother and four other children were born in Glasgow, Scotland. Joseph and three younger children were born in the Bronx.

He worked his way through school clerk at Lake Champlain in northern New York, law clerk with a salary of $85 a week during the summer at the president of Fordham University.

Prominent 'Bamans
Fall Into Dry Net

HUNTSVILLE, Ala., Sept. 2.—(AP)—Prohibition agents went high into business and social circles here today as they arrested 43 persons, including W. H. Hutchens, a former mayor and owner of the largest hardware store in north Alabama.

Hutchens, his three sons and five employees were arrested in the drive staged by 12 agents working under the direction of S. W. Miller, deputy prohibition administrator from Birmingham.

Hutchens, his sons, M. M. Hutchens, W. G. Hutchens and V. F. Hutchens and B. B. Hopper, Arthur Mason, Houston Jenkins, Early Posey and Oscar Dreger, were charged with conspiracy to violate the prohibition laws.

The agents said the firm had manufactured and sold to undercover agents of the prohibition department, two stills, which they now hold as evidence. One of the stills, the warrants charged, was made in August and delivered for $25. The second still was delivered on September 1, for $50.

CONFESSED SLAYER
HANGS SELF IN JAIL

KILBOURN, Wis., Sept. 2.—(AP)—Frank Tylius, Kenosha bootlegger who confessed to the police he plotted the murder of Robert N. Nelson, real estate dealer, hanged himself with his belt in the Kilbourn city jail early today.

World-Telegram—He seeks martyrdom by resigning. He attacks the governor of the state with almost hysterical extravagance. He flies to the "forum of the people."

Well, he will find in that forum, we think, only a prevailing, steadily widening verdict that he has merely "beaten the governor to it"—and that he, Mr. Walker, is politically finished.

The Sun—Governor Roosevelt's conduct of the hearing has been high and widely praised for his evident effort to get at the facts in the case. It must be assumed from the confidence with which Mr. Walker announces his candidacy for re-election that Bosses Curry and McCooey consented to his program.

To name for mayor a man who said of the democratic candidate for president that James J. Walker said yesterday will mean that Tammany Hall and its Brooklyn affiliate have bolted Franklin D. Roosevelt.

The Post—Realizing that to quit under fire is generally regarded as a confession of guilt, Mayor Walker and his counsel have spent much ink in trying to avert this inference. . . .

If there could be anything weaker than Mayor Walker's defense before Mr. Seabury and Governor Roosevelt, it would be the statements issued on his behalf by himself and Mr. Curtin. But there should be no harsh criticism of the allegations put forward in these statements. A case so poor as Mr. Walker's needs every prop which can be dragged up.

Brooklyn Eagle—Mr. Walker's resignation under fire is the least heroic of maneuvers, the last desperate resource of a man determined to "beat the rap" by putting himself out of reach of the governor's authority. . . .

His statement is a sentimental appeal for sympathy and support based on the charge that the mayor of New York has in the most despicable way been made the victim of injustice at the hands of the governor.

This is manifestly absurd. . . .

Presentments of the Fulton County Grand Jury

Georgia, Fulton County.

To the Superior Court of Said County: This grand jury, selected and sworn for the year term, 1932, submits to the court the following general presentments on its investigations during the current term and requests the court to order publication of the whole of these presentments in the three daily Atlanta newspapers:

(1) There was a time when our city and county governments were able to operate within their respective incomes. Without restricting the growth of the community by imposing burdensome taxes, all necessary public services were provided. Today the cost of government is beyond the ability of the people to pay. Extravagant demands for public service and wasteful administration have placed the city and county in a financial straits. We must return immediately to a sane and economical administration of our public affairs, gauge our demands for public services according to our ability to pay and live strictly within our income. Those occupying public office must realize that the taxpayers are servants of the people and must conduct their offices accordingly. There should be no spoils of office in our community. The greatest achievement of a public official should be to point with truth to an efficient and economical administration of the affairs of his office.

(2) Further reductions must be made in salaries of department heads of our county government. Reductions recently made are insufficient. There is no sound reason why the taxpayers of Fulton county should compensate their county officials disproportionately to the compensation received by executives in the business world occupying somewhat similar positions. Excluding only the judges of our superior and criminal courts and the solicitors of those courts, the salaries of our county officials should not exceed the sum of $7,500 per annum. We recommend that immediate steps be taken to bring salaries of department heads within that figure.

(3) We condemn most strongly the practice existing in some of the county offices whereby employees are required to contribute a part of their salaries toward the maintenance of their department heads. To cure this evil, we recommend that steps be taken to put all employees, except department heads, under civil service rules.

(4) We find that the tax collector's office is required to work full time only half of the year and also that the tax receiver's office works only half the year. Both of these offices are practically idle half the time. Economical administration demands the consolidation of these two offices, which can easily be merged without sacrificing efficiency. We recommend that this be done and we call upon our representatives in the general assembly to take the necessary steps to this end.

(5) This grand jury further recommends that in future an itemized report of the audit of the records of Fulton county be published in at least one of the daily newspapers of the county, which shall be a newspaper selected by the county for publishing sheriff's sales and legal matters. This report to be published not later than 10 days after completion of the county audit.

(6) In the award of contracts for public works by the city and county, we recommend some method be adopted for the pre-qualification of contractors who submit bids, to the end that only efficient and financially responsible contractors be permitted to bid.

(7) Many complaints have been made before this grand jury regarding conditions existing in the vicinity of the curb market at Trinity and Washington avenues, near our state capitol and city hall, and also the curb market on Park street, in West End. The sanitary laws of the state and the ordinances of the city of Atlanta with respect to displaying and selling food products intended for human consumption are flagrantly disregarded. The criminal statutes of the state are openly violated. Whiskey is being peddled and sold in the same open manner as produce. Immoral women are playing their trade over these entire sections. The situation is so disgraceful to the community. Although these conditions have existed for some time, little or no effort has been made to remedy the situation until the grand jury for relief from these intolerable conditions. At the instance of this grand jury, a police squad has been directed to raid these communities, with the result that 59 cases were docketed in the recorder's court in a six-day period extending from August 18 to August 24. 18 of these cases were against immoral women. It is the recommendation of the grand jury (1) that all curb markets, street peddlers or persons disposing of food products for sale be required by the proper police authorities to provide screens as required by law when displaying these products for sale; and (2) that the Atlanta police department do its full duty in policing the curb market areas and compel strict obedience to the criminal laws of our state and city. And if, within a reasonable time, these deplorable conditions are not completely removed by the police department, we call upon the recorder's office to proceed to clean up the entire section. We likewise call upon the succeeding grand jury to carry this work on to its ultimate conclusion.

(8) On account of the crowded condition at the insane hospital at Milledgeville, many insane persons are confined in our county jail along with criminals. We request our county officials, pending improvements at Milledgeville, to make provision either at Grady hospital or at one of the other county buildings for confinement of our insane where they will have proper surroundings and attention.

(9) The county commissioners are especially commended on the work relief plan instituted in Fulton county whereby the unemployed are given the opportunity of exchanging work for the necessities of life. We believe the city of Atlanta should join in the support of this plan.

(10) Presentments of previous grand juries have called attention to the dangerous condition of approaches to the bridge over the railroad tracks at Inman yards and the bridge over the Seaboard tracks on the Milledgeville road and also the dangerous grade crossing at Bolton and the condition of the bridge over the Seaboard on the Chesapeake bridge. We feel that it is more important to keep our present roads and bridges in good condition than it is to build new roads and make improvements in sections where the needs are not imperative. Where bridges are being maintained solely by the railroads or jointly by the railroads and either the county or state, we urge our county commissioners to make proper demands on such agencies as are charged with the duty of keeping them in repair and in safe condition.

(11) One of the most important functions of government in providing for the health of the citizens of a community is an adequate sewerage system. A rapidly growing community should and must keep its sewerage facilities not only abreast of its development but sufficiently in advance of its present requirements to permit of reasonable future expansion. The sewerage facilities of the city of Atlanta and Fulton county are wholly inadequate for our present needs. Expansion of these facilities in keeping with the development of the city and county is one of our imperative needs. The efforts of the mayor of Atlanta, the county commissioners of Fulton county and the city and county of sister cities in the so-called metropolitan area, looking towards securing a loan from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to carry on necessary improvements and additions, are given our whole-hearted support.

(12) It is by no means the grand jury's commendable duty to commend the Fulton county jail, for the fine spirit he has shown in improving the jail, particularly the women's quarters.

(13) Many automobiles owned or maintained by the county are being used by employees of the county for their own personal use. The practice is severely condemned. We recommend that all automobiles owned or maintained by the county, except those used by the sheriff's office and the county police, bear the name of Fulton County, the department for which the car is being used and an identification number painted on each side of the car in letters of sufficient size that the car can easily be identified while in motion at a distance of not less than 20 feet. We further recommend that no cars owned by the county shall be sold to county employees, except at public sale after due advertisement.

(14) The sheriff is charged with the duty of investigating the financial responsibility of persons offering to sign appearance bonds and the solicitor is charged with the duty of enforcing collection on these bonds when forfeiture is made. At present, a bond clerk is employed and paid by the county commissioners to carry on part of the work required. The work is important and necessary and the present bond clerk is performing his duties efficiently, but the duties of the above officers and the payment of the clerk by the county commissioners is tantamount to the creation of an additional office. We recommend that the salary of this bond clerk be paid jointly out of the budget of the sheriff's office, the solicitor's office and the office of the clerk of the criminal court of Atlanta.

(15) We concur in recommendations of previous grand juries with reference to amending the law relating to trial of defendants jointly indicted. (16) Two successive grand juries have returned true bills in cases of attempts to overthrow the government. Indisputable evidence was produced before this grand jury showing that propagandists are sowing seeds of discontent among our factory workers and others, emphasizing class distinctions, grossly exaggerating and misrepresenting racial disorders, advocating social equality and intermarriage between the races and spreading their false doctrines seeking to undermine and destroy the form of government and establish a communistic form of government.

(17) On March 9, 1932, a bond issue of $700,000 was voted for to be used for the construction of and equipping new schools and additions to present buildings of Fulton county. Your grand jury finds that the selection of building sites, the appropriation for each individual building or addition and the selection of architects were all given very careful consideration by the board of education. In all cases the interest of the majority served was followed. In the selection of architects, commissions were distributed to as many local architects as it was practical to do. The awarding of contracts has been made strictly to the lowest bidder, without satisfactory surety bond was made according to law. All the aforesaid transactions were found to be entirely legal and in order. The appointment of architects and the letting of contracts were strictly in the hands of the board of education and not in any way connected with the office of the superintendent of schools.

(18) Investigations of grand juries frequently lead up to the necessity of requiring technical and experienced assistance in order to ascertain the true state of affairs. Upon making application to the judicial department for the necessary funds with which to employ these assistants, your grand jury was informed that there was no authorization in law for such expenditures. Without the check which a grand jury should have, it is entirely possible for county officers to nullify the efforts of a grand jury and for the county to be placed in the hands of a political ring, against which the county would be powerless to defend itself. We call upon the recorder's office to proceed to clean up the entire section. We likewise call upon the succeeding grand jury to carry this work on to its ultimate conclusion.

(19) The county commissioners are especially commended on the work relief plan instituted in Fulton county whereby the unemployed are given the opportunity of exchanging work for the necessities of life. We believe the city of Atlanta should join in the support of this plan.

(20) Presentments of previous grand juries have called attention to the dangerous condition of approaches to the bridge over the railroad tracks at Inman yards and the bridge over the Seaboard tracks on the Milledgeville road and also the dangerous grade crossing at Bolton and the condition of the bridge over the Seaboard on the Chesapeake bridge. We feel that it is more important to keep our present roads and bridges in good condition than it is to build new roads and make improvements in sections where the needs are not imperative. Where bridges are being maintained solely by the railroads or jointly by the railroads and either the county or state, we urge our county commissioners to make proper demands on such agencies as are charged with the duty of keeping them in repair and in safe condition.

Morris, ousted superintendent of prisons, was the complainant, and he charged that the guard swore falsely against him at the time of his hearing before the prison committee of council. The case was dismissed by the defense, raised the question as to whether the prison committee had the authority to swear witnesses.

J. T. Wilson and Lindsay Hodges were named defendants in six indictments, separately or individually, charging robbery, by the Fulton grand jury Friday. They were also indicted on charges of carrying pistols. They were charged with having been in the grand jury term would thereby be divided into terms and semi-terms, one-half of the grand jury to be selected at the term and one-half at the semi-term, the foreman to be selected at the term period only. Under this method, one-half of the grand jury would at all times be familiar with the work and investigation in progress, thereby permitting continuity of purpose and action by the grand jury. Presentments would be made by the grand jury at the expiration of the term of the foreman.

(10) Your grand jury concludes its presentments with its sincere thanks to the solicitor-general's office for its courteous and helpful assistance and co-operation in the conduct of its work.

GRAND JURY URGES SLASH IN SALARIES

county are wholly inadequate for present needs, the jury charged. Attempts to undermine and destroy the present form of government and establish a communistic form of government should be "nipped in the bud," the grand jury said, referring to recent jury investigation of communistic activities. The jury recommended infliction of penalties fully commensurate with the gravity of the offenses.

Enactment of a bill authorizing grand juries under auditing the judicial department, to employ trained technical men to make proper investigations of county affairs where necessary to proper understanding of the matter under investigation, was urged by the jury.

Overlapping Juries Urged. Another bill, providing for overlapping grand jury in a system where one-half of the first jury would serve one-half of a term, and the other half would serve one whole term, thereafter one-half of the full panel to be selected twice in each term, also was recommended by the jury.

The first bill is in accord with legislation sponsored by Senator Charles John A. Boykin in 1924, which was enacted into law but later repealed by the legislature, it was said at Boykin's office. The jury urged that the offices of county tax collector and tax receiver be consolidated to save expense without sacrificing efficiency. Other recommendations call for adoption of pre-qualification for contractors submitting bids for city and county work, to assure financial responsibility of the contractors, strict enforcement of laws concerning operation of curb markets, transfer of insane persons from Fulton tower to Grady hospital or some county building pending improvements at the Milledgeville asylum, and the taking of steps to place dangerous bridges in safe condition. The grand jury was discharged by Judge John D. Humphries. The jurors adopted a rising vote of thanks to Assistant Solicitor-General Louis Marquardt for his services during the term. The September-October term grand jury will be sworn in Tuesday morning by Judge Humphries.

Two Robbers Killed, Officer Shot in Battle

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Two were killed and four wounded in a police-robber battle today during the hold-up of a Brooklyn pawnshop. Quick thinking of a clerk, Henry Doyle, who remembered to back toward a burglar alarm button when ordered to the shop wall, summoned police. The bandits, covering him with revolvers, did not see his thumb press the button as he stood with hands aloft, as ordered. Warned by radio, patrolmen in cruising police cars sped toward the shop in the Red Hook section. A moment later gun fire cracked in the shop and street. Two of the four thieves were killed. Another is dying in a hospital and the fourth escaped. One policeman was critically wounded; another was shot in the leg by discharge of his own revolver, and a bystander was slightly wounded.

FRIENDLY COUNSEL BY CAROLINE CHATFIELD

Problems of general interest submitted by readers will be discussed in this column. Correspondence invited. Your name held in confidence. Write Miss Chatfield, care The Atlanta Constitution.

Dear Miss Chatfield: I haven't had to read a novel for excitement because I have lived one. I am away at an early age to marry the man I loved. He had not finished his professional education and we accepted the proposal of his parents to live with them until he could get his degree. I went because I didn't want to keep him out of anything that might further his interest in later life, though it was against my judgment to go. I was never accepted as a member of the family. The atmosphere was always strained and uncomfortable. I wanted to love my husband's people, and above all I wanted them to love me, but they entered a shell that I couldn't penetrate. The mother often said to me, "I wish you were my daughter-in-law." I was very painful to my husband for he loved his mother and wanted us to get on together. She made it a habit to say anything that would hurt the man I loved. ## FARRELL ASKS RETURN OF MENTAL COURAGE

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., Sept. 2.—(AP)—The growing dependence on governments and laws, both state and federal, is an unhealthy symptom of the emotional strain which these difficult times have produced, said James A. Farrell, former president of the United States Steel Corporation, in an address which he sent to be read today at the intermountain economic conference here. The conference is discussing business problems of mountain states.

Farrell, who is chairman of the National Foreign Trade Council, also said that "the power of government or legislation to help trade is greatly overestimated. A program of trade expansion through peace, industry and the removal of unnecessary restrictions on freedom of initiative . . . is the only way to increase production and for this condition in a world of plenty we must first responsibility on the part of the nations which undermined the credit structure of world trade . . ."

"Under normal conditions," Farrell said in touching upon the frequency of tariff revisions, "it is essential to our prosperity to sell abroad more than half our cotton, more than a third of our copper and tobacco, and nearly a fifth of our wheat and flour. A margin of 8 per cent in our export trade is sufficient to make up all the difference between employment and unemployment."

"It is no exaggeration to say that any improvement in our export trade would have a most salutary effect upon the country at large. . . . Finished manufactures are the first to feel the effects of restrictions on imports into other countries. Owing to the higher wages paid in these industries, and to the worker's greater buying power, the heavy decline in this trade and the consequent unemployment have had serious effects upon the general situation throughout the country."

Songame Near Final Stages; $1,800 in Cash for Players

Last Picture Will Be Published Monday; Questions Answered for Songame Players.

BY THE SONGAME EDITOR.

After picture No. 80—the final picture of the Songame series—has been published Monday, the checkers and judges will roll up their sleeves and tackle their interesting job of finding the winners of the prizes, amounting to $1,800 in cash. Meanwhile, we will answer some of the many letters that have been pouring in to the Songame editor.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Q. Kindly fill in if a person who has always been a resident of Atlanta and who always spends her summers here, but who teaches in a neighboring state and expects to leave for there before the prizes are awarded, will be eligible to take part in the Songame.—Miss T. E. Atlanta.

A. Sure! We're glad to have you in the Songame.

Perhaps; Perhaps Not.

Q. Is the answer to picture No. 52 found on the free list of song titles? Mrs. O. S., Atlanta.

A. The free list of song titles may have the correct answer for picture No. 52—then again, it may not. This list does, however, contain the answers for pictures from No. 1 to No. 53, and for some of the others of the series.

Aw, Don't Be Mad.

Q. The other day I sent you my list of answers and asked that you check them over and tell me how near right I am. You wrote back and said you couldn't. That has made me mad. I think you're unfair, don't you?—M. J. A., Macon, Ga.

A. The Songame editor is not permitted to tell contestants whether they have or have not found correct answers. Please don't be mad! We wouldn't intentionally offend you for the world!

Not Necessary.

Q. Must quotation marks be used with the song title answers?—Mrs. W. P. L., Columbus, Ga.

A. No.

First-Class Postage.

Q. If I decide to mail in my set of pictures and answers, how much postage will be required?—C. W. E., Atlanta.

A. Reits, when mailed, require first-class postage, which is 3 cents an ounce or for a fraction of an ounce.

Numbered Sets.

Q. I am going to submit two sets of pictures and answers. If one of them wins a prize, will you let me know whether it's No. 1 or No. 2, the way I have them marked? Please publish the correct answers when the

Don't let this picture "stump" you. If you can't recall the title answer that fits it, or any of the other pictures of the series, be sure to obtain a copy of the valuable and helpful list of songs offered free to Constitution readers. A copy of this interesting list may be had by calling at the circulation department, or by mail for a 2-cent stamp.

INSTRUCTIONS:

$1,800 in cash will be awarded Songame followers who find the most correct song title answers for the 80 pictures, which will be published serially in The Constitution. The first prize is $1,000; the second, $400; the third, $100; the fourth, $50, and the fifth, $25. There are ten prizes of $10 each, and twenty-five prizes of $5 each.

There is no red tape. It is not necessary to get subscriptions in order to qualify for any of the prizes, nor is it necessary to register. Non-subscribers have the same opportunity to win one of the forty prizes as subscribers. There will be no tie-breaking series of pictures to solve, or extra work of any kind.

The correct answers are what count. The Songame pictures and answers are not to be submitted until all of the pictures have been published, when they are to be brought or sent in at one time, as a set.

M. P.'s Fail to Effect Conciliation in Strike

MANCHESTER, England, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Three members of parliament from the Lancashire district tried unsuccessfully today to arbitrate the cotton mill strike in which nearly 200,000 weavers are participating.

They suggested that union officials and mill owners confer with them to restore peace in the industry. The employers replied that something more than a negotiating medium was needed to end this deadlock and declined to participate.

Meanwhile, it was reported government authorities were already attempting to bring the disputants together. The men have refused to accept a pay cut and certain changes in working conditions.

INSURANCE CLAIMS FOR VETS SHOW GAIN

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—(AP)—The government's liability on war risk term insurance claims was reported by Brigadier General Frank T. Hines, veterans' administrator, to have exceeded premium payments by $1,000,000,000.

"Contrary to the impression which prevails in certain sections of the country," Hines said in a statement, "the fund created by premium deductions from service pay was not adequate to meet the tremendous insurance liability of the government. . . ."

"It is practically impossible to estimate the maximum liability of the government in cases of this character, but it is evident that total payments under war risk term insurance would represent an expenditure of the government in excess of $2,000,000,000."

SYNOPSIS. Barbara (Bobby) Manser, beautiful Chicago office girl, goes away on her two-week vacation determined to forget Eddie Carlson, formerly of her office, with whom she stopped associating when she discovered his friends were of questionable reputation. At the invitation of her employer, Vincent Holloway, Chicago architect, she goes to a lodge in a wild section of Wisconsin and there meets a handsome young man who calls himself Jack Borsari. She gives her name as Bobby Borsari. Jack tells her he has heard the lodge mentioned in a letter. Through a secret panel Bobby discovers a subterranean apartment and, frightened, starts in a canoe across the lake. She is caught in a storm, hurries her ankle and is rescued by Jack and taken to a cabin. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

INSTALLMENT XII. They found another old mill and several tin cans which he hailed as treasures of the highest order. Beside the river bank he bent them back into shape, carefully bending down the sharp edges, while she scoured them bright and clean with river sand. At last half a dozen shining vessels for cooking stood before them. They filled the larger ones with spring water and carried them all up to the cabin. Then during the afternoon while they sat in the sunshine Jack whitened spoons for cooking and for eating and crude forks from pieces of pine, scraping them smooth with his knife. They placed these, together with the shining cans, in an obvious row on the plank table, gloating over their collection like a pair of misers. "Nobody can say we didn't start housekeeping with a fine set of dishes and pans and silverware," Bobby laughed; "now all we need is an ice box."

"We can sink our food in the spring," "Splendid. I wish—I wish we could spend my whole two weeks here." "We may have to," Jack said, grimly. "The trails are quicksand." Bobby had gathered enough food from the fruitful forest and stream to feel secure from immediate hunger, and they could now turn their attention for the moment to other things. Early the second morning of their "shipwreck" Bobby came upon Jack sitting upon a log, sketching deftly upon a piece of board with a pencil. She tiptoed up behind him and looked over his shoulder. He was so intent upon the work before him that he did not hear her approach. "Why, that's almost professional," Bobby said.

"You're not only a good architect, you're an orator," Bobby said. "You bet I'm an orator, on any subject I feel as strongly as I do on this. Think of the city of Chicago! A hodge-podge of 49 kinds of motifs: Pseudo-Greek, Roman, Gothic, Italian renaissance. . . . Why there aren't actually more styles than there are decent buildings in the whole city." "Bravo!" Bobby cheered. "We agree!" "Listen," Jack said. "I have a dream. It is a dream of the city of Chicago all built in glass and steel. Buildings as artistically proportioned, as light and airy and beautiful as shafts of sunlight!" "That's a dream we can share," Bobby said. "I've been at school four years," Jack went on, "and now I must find myself. I must prove to myself that I really have the stuff. That's why I came up here for a few weeks. I wanted to be alone with myself for a while, before I go into the city and settle down to a job. I don't want to be a trifle surprised to have unburdened myself so completely to this girl whom he scarcely knew, yet already knew so well. He knew that never before in his life had he trusted anyone sufficiently to confide in him all of his intimate thoughts, as he had just poured them out to Bobby. Together they went to the cabin to prepare their morning meal and after breakfast began to plan how best to get back to the Holloway lodge.

"I think that tomorrow we can risk it," Jack said. "The trails are getting better, and your ankle is getting better." "I wouldn't insist that we try," Bobby said, "but you know what people might think." "Yes, of course," Jack said, quickly, "although, as a matter of fact, no one will ever hear of them. Two glorious days we've had together unless we speak of them." "They have been glorious, haven't they?" Bobby said. "Oh, I've just thought of one reason we must get back." "Don't tell me you've run out of face powder!" "Worse than that! I'm afraid Pete will have sent my baggage back to Chicago. That would worry Aunt Het to death. Goodness knows what she would think, if she knew I was lost in the great north woods, alone and with a most beautiful shade. "What would she do—call out the state police?" "She'd probably take the next train from Chicago," Jack said. "Well, heaven forbid," Jack said. "Well."
